Selection with Coravin

High-Altitude Wines · Mexico from the mountains

The Bajío region has a secret: when the nights are cool and the days long, the grapes take their time. The result is fresh, vibrant wines with an acidity that awakens the palate. Nothing heavy, nothing boring.

$295.00

The Mexican Mediterranean · Baja California has a climate that anyone would envy

Hot days, cool nights, and a Pacific breeze. This combination produces wines with body, aroma, and a personality that doesn't need a European label to impress.

$295.00

Northern Mexico · Where the desert, altitude, and light shape wines with character

In northern Mexico, vines grow in open landscapes, with a semi-desert climate, intense skies, and marked contrasts between day and night. With a personality born from the sun, the altitude, and the austerity of the north.

$295.00

Great Reds of the World · The regions that put wine on the map

Rioja, Tuscany, Bordeaux... names that need no introduction. Classic varieties, soils with centuries of history, and styles that defined what we understand today as great wine.

$320.00

Rarities that Spark Conversation · Unexpected grapes and origins that provide a topic of conversation

Beyond the usual grapes, this selection brings together bottles from lesser-known regions or varieties that surprise in the glass and awaken curiosity at the table.

$330.00

The Magic of Rioja Alavesa · Freshness, finesse, and a character deeply linked to its landscape

Protected by the Sierra de Cantabria mountains, and characterized by clay-limestone soils, this region offers precise, fragrant wines with a freshness that balances their structure. Each of its villages offers a unique expression.

$350.00

Discovering Rosé Wines · Fresh, expressive, and much more serious than they appear

From light to more structured, rosés offer a diversity that transcends borders and styles. Taut, mineral, fruity, or enveloping, they all share a freshness that makes them versatile.
